Take a look at the Mouth images from the Silent Sound chart to help you think about how words are broken up into different shapes.

Without making any sound, choose a word from the list of Allison Katz words and see if you can mouth out the phonics of each word. Hold the shape of your mouth into its different sound shapes.

To make it more of a challenge, see if you can mix up the words and add some new ones. Create a whole sentence for you and your partner to guess. They could be.....
